‘Far away in a little street there is a poor house,’ continued the statue. ‘One of the windows is open, and through it I can see a woman at a table. Her son is very ill and he has a fever. But she has nothing to give him because she’s very poor. Little Swallow, can you bring her one of my precious stones?’

‘But my friends are waiting for me in Egypt,’ said the Swallow.

‘Swallow, Swallow, little Swallow,’ said the Prince, ‘stay with me for one night and help me, please? The boy is so thirsty, and the mother is so sad.’

‘I don’t like boys,’ answered the Swallow. ‘Last summer, while I was sitting on the river, there were two nasty boys who were throwing stones at me.’

But the Happy Prince looked so sad that the little Swallow felt sorry for him. ‘It’s very cold here,’ he said, ‘but I’ll stay with you for one night and help you.’

‘Thank you, little Swallow,’ said the Prince.
